Every spring, Gord Monk finds plenty of water in the puddle on his front lawn. Now, he is being told the puddle is there because he lives in the flood plain. He says this is a ridiculous suggestion and took the opportunity to poke some fun at the whole flood plain situation by donning his hip waders and baling out his puddle with a bucket. Monk and others are forming an association to fight the Ministry of Natural Resources' plan to have property along the Gull River designated with restrictive flood plain zoning.

Board considers store location for classes

The possibility of using the former IGA building on Main Street as a school is being explored by the school board. According to Anson, Hindon and Minden trustee, Wendy Ladurantaye, the option is being considered because of the growing need for additional classrooms at Archie Stouffer Elementary School and the fact the Ministry of Education has refused to fund the two portable classrooms requested for the Minden school for next year.

As stories of the possible relocation of up to six classes to the former grocery store began to spread last week, concerned parents quizzed trustees and board officials for information on the move. By week's end, the board had decided to hold a public information meeting April 13 at which time the options open to the board would be discussed. The municipality has also scheduled a meeting for May 5 to hear objections to a temporary rezoning to allow a school to operate in that location. (While the municipality's actions may appear premature, it was necessary to begin the rezoning procedures immediately so that if the building is deemed suitable for a school, the necessary zoning changes can be made and renovations carried out in time to accommodate the classes.)

Trustee Wendy Ladurantaye, who is a member of the accommodation committee for the Minden school, admits that the board does not have all the answers yet as to whether the building would be suitable for classroom use but she hopes all necessary information will be available by April 13. The board has asked the Fire Marshall's office to inspect the premises and has asked the engineer working on the library/resource centre addition at the high school to examine the building and prepare a report as quickly as possible.

The trustee favours the idea of using the building for classes. She admits it is less suitable than having permanent classrooms added to the present school, but favours it over the addition of more portables at Archie

Youth rescued from Head Lake

Taking a short cut across Head Lake almost cost 17-year-old David Graham his life last Tuesday when he broke through the ice on his way back to Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Luck was in his favour that day, though. Employees from the Ministry of Natural Resources Fire Centre were putting a new roof on the building, and were up high enough that they were able to see Graham fall into the icy waters. Five ministry employees and a police officer had him out of the water within 20 minutes.

"It wasn't much of a short cut," said Graham when contacted last week. "It was a short cut that could have cost me my life."

Graham had spent the day at Sea Winds International, where he was working on a co-op program through the school. He was returning to catch the bus home to Kinmount and decided to take the short cut across the ice by the bridge in front of the school. Although there was an open section of water about 10 feet away from where he went through, Graham said the ice looked good and thick where he was walking.

When he first fell through, he was able to pull himself back up and begin walking. However, the ice gave way again, and he began to scream. In addition to the icy-cold

Lutterworth balks at flood plain zoning

Until the Ministry of Natural Resources comes up with some satisfactory answers, Lutterworth Township Council will not be giving its approval to the flood plain rezoning being imposed.

After a heated public meeting on March 26, Lutterworth Council met last Tuesday and concluded that all the amendments to the comprehensive zoning bylaw can be approved, except those which refer to environmental protection areas.

The flood plain mapping is riddled with inconsistencies, and the accuracy is also questionable, council feels. The public hearing, which was designed to help clear up questions, fell well short of achieving this goal.

At Tuesday's meeting, Councillor Elizabeth Wright said absolutely nothing was gained from the public meeting. The ministry representatives refused to give straight answers, and the whole issue is still "as clear as mud," she said.

According to council, there are about six people who own property in the areas along the Gull River which are in the proposed flood plain. However, the turnout at the public hearing showed a tremendous interest in this ministry initiative. More than 40 people attended the meeting looking for information.

One of the main questions council has is regarding the accuracy of the mapping. The land elevations were recorded from a plane flying at a height of 8,000 feet more than 10 years ago. Some sight inspection was done later when obvious errors were pointed out, but council is concerned more errors may still exist.

Another concern is the inconsistency. In one area, there are two separate pieces of property, both with the same elevation of 271 feet. The proposed zoning would allow building on one, but not on the other.

Lutterworth Council "desperately needs information" before it can deal with this, said Wright.

Since the information can not be had from the ministry, council is inviting Gord Monk to its next meeting.

Monk, whose property in Minden lies in the proposed flood plain, is organizing a residents' group to oppose the flood plain designation. He is calling a meeting for April 16 at 10:30 a.m. in the Anson, Hindon and Minden Council chambers to organize a group to fight this plan.

Flood plain designations are desired to protect all levels of government from being forced to provide relief to flood victims. Flood plain zoning is only one of the methods used to prevent this. Other methods include structural flood controls such as dams, and flood warning systems. Although the structures are in place throughout the Trent-Severn Waterway to control flooding, they are not used for this purpose.

Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Council will be holding a public meeting on May 17 at 7 p.m. to deal with its Official Plan and Zoning By-law. A representative from the ministry will be invited to this meeting.

Monk says he wants to be well prepared for that meeting. He says Lutter-worth Council is right in refusing to approve the flood plain zoning, and he wishes Anson, Hindon and Minden would do the same.

If the flood plain is approved there has to be some compensation for the lost property value, says Monk. He says he has worked for the past 15 or 20 years to build up some equity for his retirement, and a large part of it could be lost by this zoning designation.

Monk says everyone in the municipality has a vested interest in the outcome of this fight. If the flood plain is approved, Monk and others will be appealing their taxes. The municipality will have to make up this difference by increasing taxes across the board.

The zoning would dramatically affect the resale value of all the property in the designated areas. Monk says there are already examples that mortgage financing can not be obtained to purchase property in the designated areas, even though the zoning has yet to be passed.

water. Graham does not know how to swim. He said he was panicking, but his rescuers soon arrived and convinced him to keep calm.

The five ministry employees and OPP Const. Brian Sachs went to Graham's rescue with ladders, fire hose and a canoe. Four of the men went through themselves in their effort to reach him. However, they were able to go on to rescue Graham, who was taken to hospital for examination and soon released.

Although he was in the water for about 20 minutes, Graham said he did not feel the cold. "With the shock, I didn't notice I was cold," he said. "But once I got to the hospital I started to shake." Except for the bad scare and a chill, Graham suffered no injuries from the episode.

The ministry employees involved in this rescue were Bill Ohlman, Tom Russell, Ted Jubb, Chris Cowan and Ron MacKenzie. Const. Sachs is the investigating officer.

her into the car. She resisted and when other cars came along, the man fled.

A car matching the description given to police was noticed before 10 a.m. on Highway 35 south of Minden and attempts by OPP Const. B.J. Connelly to pull the car over failed.

Connelly continued to pursue the vehicle, and

Would you give these people a ride? Members of the HHSS Stage Band are making their way to Calgary to compete in the National Stage Band Festival. No, they're not really hitch-hiking. But they are trying to raise funds. A raffle for a hand-carved dry sink, donated by Merv Bunker is just one of the fund raising efforts. The band will be giving free performances in Minden and Haliburton on April 29. The students will be playing at the Village Green in the morning and in Haliburton Village in the afternoon.

Go slow on amalgamation says council

Although Lutterworth Township Council is generally in favour of reducing the number of municipalities in Haliburton County, the Reeve and Deputy Reeve will be voting against amalgamation when the issue comes up at the May meeting of County Council.

The bid to reduce the number of municipalities in the county through amalgamation is being pushed ahead too fast, said acting reeve Carol Puffer at last Tuesday's meeting of Lutterworth Council. She feels the idea should be shelved until after the November municipal elections, thereby giving the new county council three years to address and properly implement any restructuring.

Although Councillor Lisa Mercer said she is normally not in favour of postponing matters for the next council to deal with, in this case the delay is warranted. Haliburton's 10 municipalities have been getting along just fine up until this stage, said

Mercer. She feels there is no reason why change can not wait until after the election.

The proposal to create five municipalities out of the present 10, was raised in a notice of motion at the last meeting of Haliburton County Council. The feeling is that greater efficiency can be obtained by reducing the number of municipalities. County council members were asked to bring this matter up for discussion at their municipal council meetings and to have a resolution passed either favouring or opposing amalgamation.

Help sought for fire budget

The budget for the Minden Fire Department will see a significant increase this year, and Snowdon and Lutterworth Townships will be expected to help foot the bill.

At the March 24 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Council, Deputy Reeve Bern Berry said the fire department budget will hit about $64,000 this year because $15,000 needs to be set aside for the purchase of a new truck. With this in mind, he suggested doubling the fees for the fire service provided to Lutterworth and Snowdon Townships.

By resolution council increased the annual fee for Lutterworth to $8,000. Snowdon will be paying $4,000.

Although the actual number of fire calls to these municipalities dropped in 1987, Berry says usage of the service is not the only factor. Regardless of the number of calls, the fire department has to have a certain amount of equipment. An underwriters study on the department indicated last year that another truck is needed.

Resignation

In a related matter, Council accepted the resignation of Deputy Fire Chief Bob Wells. Berry told council he has met with the Fire Chief Don Booth to discuss a replacement.

Police chase

Coboconk OPP was contacted for back-up as the car continued south on Highway 35. When the driver saw the two police cars waiting near Norland, he finally pulled over.

By Friday afternoon Minden police were still unable to confirm the man's identity. The investigation was continuing, with charges of attempted kidnapping pending. Constable Ken Wesley is the investigating officer.

All over Haliburton County there are individuals who should be recognized during the special nationwide search now underway by Air Canada and the Community Newspaper Association.

Air Canada's Heart of Gold Award is a co-operative program with your community newspaper, to be presented to individuals aged 19 or older, who have contributed something which has enhanced the lives of others or improved the quality of life in their community.

Award criteria includes Canadians who "are resourceful, courageous, community leaders; or give selfless service to others; or are exemplary community volunteers; or have overcome some form of disability to become useful and inspirational community members; or qualify as community heroes; or are outstanding citizens who set a fine example for others."

We sincerely believe there are many people in the Highlands who fit these criteria. And this is our chance to give them more than a pat on the back. All the nominees will receive an award certificate and some will receive further recognition.

The people we are looking for are everywhere. It could be the hockey coach who arrives at 6 a.m. at the cold arena to coach the kids. It could be the lady down the street whose tireless efforts have resulted in a well-stocked community library. It could be a volunteer, a hero, or simply a person down the street who helps out in some way.

Along with a nomination form (available through The Times), an accompanying note or letter should be attached, explaining why the nominee has been picked. Anyone not using the form must remember to include their own name, address and phone number, as well as the nominee's and list the reasons for the nomination.

Air Canada's Heart of Gold Award is aimed at recognizing people for efforts or deeds which are not normally within the expectations of their employment, or which are purely voluntary.

A garden of dog dirt

Editor:

The yellow snow is beginning to melt away from the playground at the Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden. As it melts it uncovers a five month supply of frozen dog dirt. As this dung thaws it is as fresh and as ripe as the day it was produced. Now our playground is a veritable garden of dog dirt.

Many, if not most, of my fellow students and the teachers are disgusted by this situation. In the spring, a young man's thoughts should turn toward pleasant activities rather than be focussed on what might be on the bottom of his shoes.

Where does this dog dung come from? It does not fall from the sky, it comes from dogs which are

Mangling a few morals

black 'n white

by Arthur Black

Do you ever get tired of being so danged honest? It must be frustrating to plough through the sea of life following the pre-set, undeviating course of a straight shooter, taking no short cuts, always playing by the rules. Especially when you have to gargle the wake of other, less ethical hominids swooshing by on either side of you - sleazoids and slimeballs who, by lying, cheating, defrauding and otherwise shortchanging their colleagues, seem to do very well for themselves. TV shows like Dallas and movies like Wall Street show that for folks willing to bend a principle or mangle a moral or two, crime doesn't just pay, it shells out jackpot-style in the form of mansions and stretch limos, sniveling underlings and panting, blank-eyed, be-spandexed blondes.

Is that why you've been restless and out of sorts lately Binky? You're thinking to yourself that for once, just once, you'd like to say "A pox on the rules! I'm going to play this game like everybody else does - fast and loose! No holds barred!"

Hold it.

Before you embark on a life of crime, allow me to lay upon you a clutch of cautionary tales about some other folks who, like you and I, got tired of being shunted around the board one space at a time and decided to bypass the ladder of success in-favour of going directly to the pot of gold.

Council correct to question flood plain plan

Editor:

I certainly wish to congratulate the residents of Lutterworth and their Council for the position they have taken in resisting the proposed Flood Plain that the Ministry of Natural Resources is attempting to put in place. It is most certainly to be hoped that the Council of Anson, Hindon and Minden will take the same position and simply tell the Ministry that they will accept absolutely nothing until the Ministry can prove beyond any reasonable doubt that the properties along the Gull River are endangered by actual flooding. It is also to be hoped that the necessary pressures may be brought to bear on the Ministry of Municipal Affairs to force the Ministry of Natural Resources to come up with some credibility.

There is evidence available that there are alternatives available to alleviate any potential flooding and which would thwart devaluation of properties along the river in the proposed flood zone. There is already evidence that people are having difficulties in obtaining mortgage funding in this area because of the flood plain potential. We already know of one other Municipality that has defeated a proposed flood plain. Most importantly, if the proposed flood plain does become a reality, and the properties are devalued, where does the Municipality intend to shift the tax base? These are only a few of the many answers we need.

A public meeting is planned for all residents of the flood plain areas in Anson, Hindon and Minden and Lutterworth Townships and any other concerned individuals on Saturday, April 16 at 10:30 a.m. in the Council Chambers at the Municipal Offices in Minden. Please come prepared to petition all levels of Government. It is also our intention to provide you with a copy of a letter of complaint to be sent to all levels of Government. A few hours of your time now can make a tremendous difference. We hope to be extremely well organized before a proposed public meeting to be held the 17th of May which undoubtedly will be titled another "Information Meeting" where we will be told what is going to happen to this area.

Gordon A. Monk,
Minden.

permitted by their owners to use our school yard as an exercise yard and an outdoor toilet.

On the average, dogs produce solid waste once daily. We have had snow in Minden this winter for about one hundred days. Therefore, each dog owner should have, in his own yard, about one hundred piles of dog dung. If not, then where is it? Has the owner been scooping poop or permitting Fido to poop on someone else's property? I know where a great deal of this poop is ... on our school yard. I will gladly provide a pile of evidence to anyone who does not believe this account.

This has been a problem for years. The time has come to find a solution. Do we need additional by-laws to deal with this matter or is it possible to better enforce existing by-laws? Another possible solution would be to fence off the entire school property, at great expense to the taxpayers, thus preventing any recreational use or misuse of the playground. I see this as a radical and unnecessary approach to this problem. In my view, we need a change in attitude. We must realize that the only acceptable place for a dog to drop his waste is on the property of his owner. Free roaming dogs produce a great deal of disease ridden matter that, in turn, causes untold damage and inconvenience to others and their property.

I hope that dog owners will take a moment to read this letter and control their dogs within the limits of their own property and strive to stoop and scoop should their dog inadvertently leave waste on the property of others.

Up against the wall

Last week I had occasion to talk with one of the last remaining individuals in North America not to own a VCR. (A slight exaggeration perhaps, but it is my understanding that VCR equipped homes may soon surpass the number of homes with indoor plumbing. Giving that comparison more than a moment's consideration leads inevitably to the conclusion that the two should in fact go hand in hand.)

My acquaintance had borrowed a VCR for several weeks and spent some time describing her frustration in attempting to rent "suitable" pre-recorded tapes to, as they say, enjoy in the comfort of your own home. She described the seemingly endless hours spent staring at what she perceived was the Great Wall of China covered with video movie boxes. The tension ... the indecision ... the complete and utter feeling that the monster was growing out of control.

jack's world

by publisher Jack Brezina

As a veteran from the video rental front, the comments brought back crashing waves of memories as I recalled the first few times I, alone, attempted to make a movie selection and not lose a half a day in the process. It is amazing just how complicated this simple act can become when one falls prey to Video Rental Syndrome (VCR-VRS). When vulnerable to this condition, even walking by a video rental outlet can cause palpitations of the heart. Entering such an establishment is bound to result in dangerously high blood pressure readings, racing pulse, drippy palms, rubber knees and complete blithering delirium. I know. I've been there!

VCR-VRS is the result of two main factors. The first is the innate human desire to take home only the "best" possible rentals after a visit to the video rental store. (The interpretation of "best" varies according to individual taste and I am not about to begin an exploration of why some people reach first for the latest edition of Wrestlemania. Suffice to say, "best" sleeps within each of our hearts and is activated whenever palms drip.) It should be noted that the quest for the best is compounded tenfold for each 100 titles on display. It should also be noted that there are no lousy movies for rent anywhere in North America. A quick perusal of the words on the back of the video

rs letters let Band members helping to raise funds

Editor:

May we, as parents of HHSS Stage Band members, express our concerns regarding the fundraising efforts by the Stage Band for their trip to the National Finals, Musicfest '88 in Calgary.

It may appear that the band members are sitting back after having sent letters to all the local service clubs and merchants asking for their support in this fundraising effort. This, we assure you, is not the case. For the past few years, the Stage Band members have rehearsed faithfully, once a week on their own time. They have put a great deal of time and effort into the stage band, and this year, that effort paid off.

There have been many ideas and suggestions made as to how the kids could raise the money for this trip, but time, unfortunately, does not permit the usual methods which are inclined to take longer than they can afford.

Raffle tickets will be available soon on three items donated by band parents. Also, on April 29, the public can hear the stage band perform on Main Street, Minden in the morning and Haliburton Village in the afternoon in an effort to let the people see just why they should contribute to the band fund.

Thank you for allowing us to express our appreciation and for the space to explain the apparent low profile from band members.

Keep up the good work kids, we're behind you all the way.

Underworld underachievers

With decidedly uneven results.

There is the case, for instance, of Christopher Fleming, a Briton who thought perhaps a wee spot of burglary would put him on Easy Street.

Mister Fleming had a modest modus operandi. He chose a Chinese restaurant in Devon as his target, intending to break in, empty the cash register and flee. All went well for Fleming right up until he climbed through a window, then all went wrong. He lost his balance and fell into a chip fryer. Well battered in every sense of the world, Fleming oozed and slid over to the cash register where he found no paper money, but about $40 worth of coins, which he slid into his grease soaked pocket.

Heavy coins and a body stocking of congealing grease - not a combination conducive to quick and unobtrusive getaways. By the time police arrived, Mister Fleming was moving very slowly and leaving a trail like a giant garden slug. He got two years.

Blackmail?

Do you think perhaps blackmail is more your line? I trust you'll fare better than Mister Monte Shoemaker, who enlisted his girlfriend to get photographs of a lawyer in a compromising situation. The girl solicited the solicitor and lured him to her room where Monte, crouched in a closet, manned the helm of a pre-positioned, remote-control camera. "It's the life of Riley for us now, ducks," crowed Monte, hunched over the developing tray in his darkroom.

Well, not quite. The exposed film turned out to be 24 frames of an old refrigerator in the corner of the room.

If you choose fraud as your specialty, I hope you'll be a little more subtle than the Nigerian labourer working on a building site in Lagos, who in 1967 decided to take early retirement. He altered his weekly paycheque which was made out for £9-4s-0d to read £697,000.090-4s.

As the British newspaper reporting the incident dryly noted, "The fraud was entirely successful right up to the moment when he tried to cash it."

We have our own underworld underachievers on this side of the pond, of course. Leonard Goodin springs to mind. Last fall, Leonard decided to knock over a bank in Toronto. He marched into a branch of the Toronto-Dominion and pushed an empty paper bag together with a "This-is-a-stickup" note written on a withdrawal slip, through the wicket. The teller looked at the message scrawled on the withdrawal slip, frowned and pushed it back at Goodin.

"You have the wrong bank" she told him calmly. "This is a Toronto-Dominion, not a Royal."

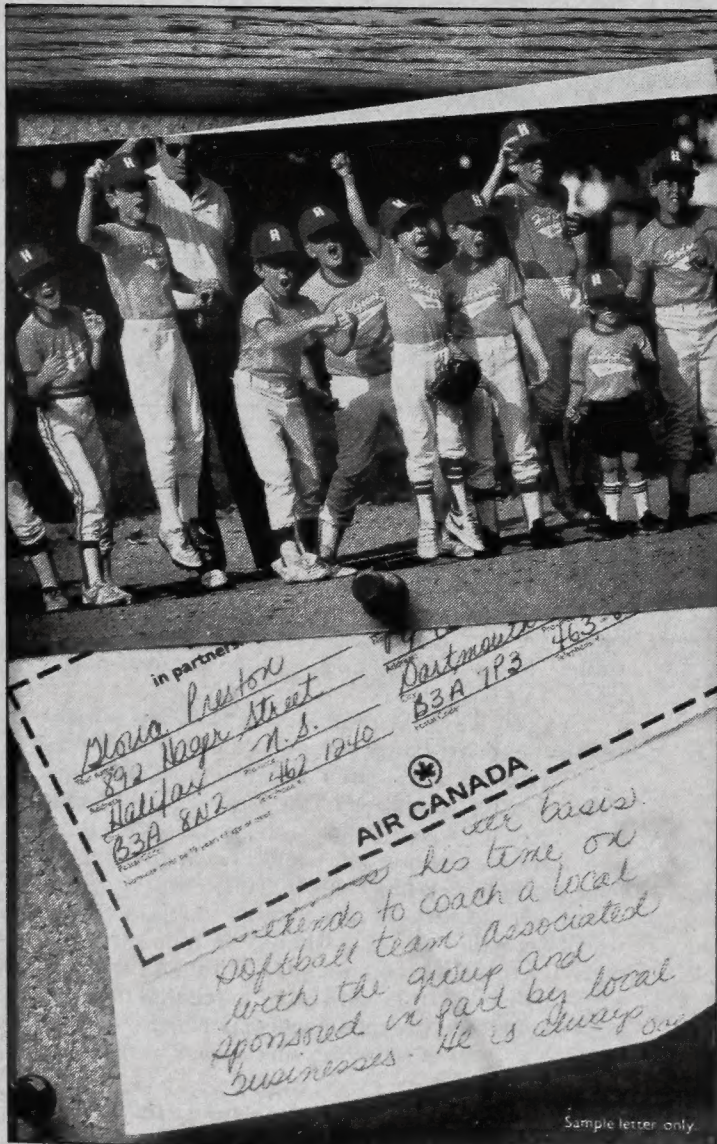

Goodin looked at the teller, then down at his note (it was, in fact, written on a Royal Bank withdrawal slip), looked back at the teller, shrugged and walked out.

Goodin was nothing if not persistent. Eventually he did knock over several banks in the Toronto-Hamilton area. But then alas, he fell upon hard times. Thieves somewhat swifter than he relieved him of his booty as he slept. An irate Goodin phoned the police to report the theft. "And what is your profession sir?" asked the desk sergeant. "Bank robber" replied Goodin helpfully.

Mister Goodin is currently a guest of Her Majesty, occupying a single room with no view in the Crowbar Hotel.

Which is too bad in a way. I think we'd all feel a lot safer if there were more crooks like Leonard Goodin on the street.

Guest skaters Lori Rissling and Alan Kerslake provided the huge audience at the Minden Skating Club's presentation of "Disney Skates". While this seniors pair was the main event to the annual skating carnival, there was plenty of local talent to please the audience. The local skating club put on another spectacular show, mixing humour with skating talent to build a lively performance. It was evident that a tremendous amount of work went into this show, from preparing the beautiful costumes for skaters to preparing the decorations and props.

After almost 23 years of service as an officer with the Minden Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, Constable Mike Maher exchanged his badge for the rights of retirement last Tuesday morning. That day marked Maher's final day on the job, after policing Haliburton County since July 26, 1968. Accepting the badge, Corporal Steve Adam said Maher's experience with the force and with the community will be missed.

What's 'Inside Lester?'

The cast for the HHSS production of 'Inside Lester' was busy last week rehearsing the lines for the comedy which will be presented on stage on April 8 and 9. Above: the unwilling diamond carrier (Andy Cooper) follows the script as Sara Stouffer, Terry Johnson and Tammy Powell run through their lines. Left: The bumbling thugs Andrea Burton and Richard Beers have trouble deciding between flowers and firearms. They play begins at 8 p.m. at the high school and tickets are available at the door.

Repair bill sent to township

Although Bobcaygeon Road has finally been levelled out, the two months of navigating through and around enormous potholes has taken its toll on cars, and at least one Minden resident is hoping the municipality will cover her repair bills.

Beatrice Taylor says one of the springs on her 1982 car broke while driving along the construction area on Bobcaygeon Road. The cost to repair this was $129 and she has sent the bill to the municipality, hoping to be reimbursed.

Anson, Hindon and Minden council dealt with the matter at its March 24 meeting by sending the bill to its insurance company to determine if the municipality is liable. It was also suggested that Royal Paving, the company doing the construction work, should be liable.

Taylor, who lives along the Scotch Line Road was forced to cross over the section of potholes every time she had to come into town. "At times it was just terrible," she said. When it rained the holes would be filled with water and it would be impossible to tell how deep they were, she said.

The $750,000 reconstruction job was to have been completed last fall, but Royal Paving was forced to postpone its work until this spring. The section between Deep Bay Road and the school quickly deteriorated with the first sign of warm weather.

Is there gold in Toronto's garbage?

With the potential of turning garbage into gold, Lutterworth Township will be giving some consideration to a proposal from Metropolitan Toronto to accept its waste.

Toronto's dumps are rapidly being filled with the mounds of garbage generated in that city each day, and the regional works department is looking abroad to find a community willing to open a landfill site for Toronto's waste.

Lutterworth Township is one of the municipalities that has been contacted and before filing this piece of correspondence, Deputy Reeve Carol Puffer was asked to review some literature on this subject last Tuesday. Councillor Al Stott noted that there is a potential for a considerable amount of money to be made through setting up a dump site for Toronto. He asked council to allow Puffer to review a number of magazine articles before saying no to the request.

County study

On a related note, council passed a resolution to participate in the proposed waste management study for Haliburton County.

County Council had previously asked that each municipality pass a resolution endorsing the study, which is hoped will help establish a county-wide waste-management system.

Audit of water level problems described as a 'smoke screen'

Every time they flush their toilets in Peterborough, the water level in Haliburton County lakes drops another notch.

This is the conclusion that Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Councillor Verne Graham has drawn after listening to the recommendations and findings in the Post Audit of the waterway.

What it all boils down to is maintaining a steady water flow in Peterborough to flush away the sewage, says Graham. The very first priority in the Trent Severn scheme is to maintain a water flow of between 14.2 and 19.8 cubic metres per second past Lakefield.

Over the past year, Haliburton lakefront property owners have had their hopes pinned on favourable recommendations from the Post Audit of the waterway. Acres International, the engineering firm hired to carry out this project, had ample opportunity to hear of the endless problem with water levels during the public meetings.

However, then the report was released a few weeks ago, there was no evidence of any effort to improve the situation. Three of the four recommendations resulting from this lengthy study are for improvement to the often-criticized computer system.

The fourth recommendation is to investigate the potential for reducing the minimum flow constraints at Norland and Lakefield. However, Graham is not optimistic that this will be accomplished if it is attempted at all.

Graham says the post audit was just a "smoke screen" to make people believe the Trent Severn people are trying to solve the fluctuating water problems in the reservoir lakes. He is also disillusioned with the Haliburton Highlands Water Management Advisory Committee, which he says is a front to divert the controversies away from Trent Severn.

"The committee is used to disseminate flack," says Graham, whose brother is a committee member. The committee is in place to keep complaints from falling directly on Trent Severn officials. The committee is made up of local residents as well as two representatives of the Trent Severn Waterway. And at the March 25 meeting at the County Council Chambers the committee re-elected itself to another term and invited one additional member to join.

The committee could be a very useful tool in resolving problems if the concerns and recommendations it raises are given serious consideration by Trent Severn authorities. However, Graham feels this is not the case, and the history of the committee's dealings over the past decade prove him right.

A Water Levels Committee, the forerunner of the Haliburton Highlands Water Management Advisory Committee, was formed after a very dry summer in 1977 that created a "critical situation" in Haliburton area lakes.

According to background information contained in the committee's 1986 Operations Review, "The lakes never filled (in 1977) and were substantially below normal levels all summer. The result was that wells went dry in the Kennis Lake area, the marina on Haliburton Lake did not get a boat in after July 28, with resultant bankruptcy, and in many lakes power boats had to be removed from the water by mid-August."

"So wide-spread was the subsequent dissatisfaction that a meeting was held in the Legion Hall in Haliburton early in September. Representatives from all the lakes in Haliburton, as well as most businesses, all Reeves and the County Warden were present. The Trent-Severn Waterway was represented by four members. The result of the meeting was that a Water Levels Committee was set up to have continuous liaison with the Trent Severn Waterway."

Although water levels were stabilized for a short period after the committee was formed, certain areas faced flood conditions in 1979 and 1983. Again in 1983, many areas also experienced severe water shortages and exceedingly low levels.

With fluctuating water levels continuing to plague the Haliburton area, a new committee was formed, called the Haliburton Highlands Water Management Advisory Committee. However, the severe drought experienced throughout the area last summer mirrored that of a decade earlier demonstrating that little ground has been gained in convincing Trent Severn officials that something must be done to improve the situation here.

Like the summer of 1977, last summer saw Haliburton's lakes drained off to maintain flows in other parts of the system. Boating was hampered, wells went dry, and still, water was being drawn off. When winter set in, lakefront residents faced the new problem of having their exposed waterlines freeze up.

Campers could be fined $100

Anyone caught camping on municipal property in Lutterworth Township will be facing a $100 fine, council decided at its March 29 meeting.

The main area of concern is on the land adjacent to Moore Falls next to the control dam. Overnight campers left this area a mess last summer with litter. Councillor Al Stott said the garbage containers are filled with beer cans and then knocked over and left in the bush.

Although signs have been posted in the past prohibiting camping, there is no bylaw to enforce this rule. Council instructed Clerk Jeunne Simpson to set up a bylaw, which will be voted on at the next regular meeting. The bylaw is to include a fine of $100 for those who abuse the facilities.

New Administrator

Pleased with Highlands setting

For some people, a move from Toronto to Minden would require some dramatic changes to their lifestyle. After all, what do people in Minden do in their spare time?

However, finding activities to fill his spare time is not a concern of Dwight Morley's, the new Administrator at Hyland Crest. Although he has arrived in the area too late to satisfy his passion for cross country skiing, he is already polishing up the golf clubs for the not-too-distant opening day at the local greens.

Morley has only been in town for a short while, but he says he loves the peacefulness, the quiet and the fresh air of this area. These are some of the main reasons why he left his job with a Toronto marketing firm to come here. Another reason is that administrat-ing a seniors' home is what he has always wanted to do.

Prior to working for the marketing firm, Morley was the Technical Director of Radiology at Sunnybrook Hospital. He took a number of administrative courses as well as a two-year business course and decided that being an administrator is what he has really always wanted to do.

For the time being, Morley's wife, Susan, and 15-year-old daughter, Allison, are still living in Toronto and he is making the drive back and forth on the weekends. Susan is the head of dermatology at Sick Kid's Hospital, and Allison is a Grade 9 student at Victoria Park School. They will not be moving up to Minden until school is out. Initially, Morley said he will be looking for a place to rent for the summer, hopefully on one of the lakes.

While Morley says he is very impressed with the facilities, care and staff at Hyland Crest, one goal is to have the Home receive accreditation. To do this, the Home will have to meet with Canadian Hospital Association Guidelines for a number of consecutive years. The benefit of accreditation is that it can then be compared with other facilities, and will be more attractive because people will be able to see that it meets certain basic standards of care.

Being the administrator of a long-term facility is what Dwight Morley has always wanted to do. The fresh air, peace and quiet of the Highlands is an added bonus for the new administrator of Hyland Crest.

Major condominium project proposed

As many as 50 condominium units could be created in downtown Minden if the rezoning for an ambitious development on Newcastle Street is approved.

Raymond and Gloria Moore are hoping to build an elaborate condominium and retail complex on their 92,000 square foot piece of property at the base of Newcastle Street. Anson, Hindon and Minden Council recently gave approval in principle to a rezoning that would accommodate this complex.

"The proposal in our opinion is innovative and very beneficial to the community and a great many people," said Raymond Moore. "Although it may appear as an ambitious plan, it does not present any additional pressure or expense on the town services already in place."

The plan is to widen the street in front of their property and excavate the lot back to rock, creating a terraced effect up the side of the hill. Retail stores will be located at the front of the lower terrace.

Moore said he came up with this idea for this complex when he realized the housing shortage in Minden. He also notes that skyrocketing prices are making it very difficult for young people to buy.

The concept of condominiums gives these people a chance to own their home at a reasonable price, with the added advantages of living just off the main street. He said the units will be selling for as little as $48,000 for a 960 square-foot apartment.

The condominium concept will be better for the town than creating an apartment building, Moore feels. With individually owned units, the residents are more apt to take pride in the appearance of the entire building, he said. Other benefits to this concept are the possibilities for in-house day care, a swimming pool, badminton and tennis courts, a playground and games room, which would be jointly owned and maintained by the residents.

Moore estimates that the project will cost about $2.5-million to construct. And once completed, it will benefit the community and restrengthen the downtown core, he says. It will provide low down payment starter homes for young people and security and freedom for retired and semi-retired people, he said. The close proximity to shopping, banks, parks and other community facilities will be very attractive to old and young residents alike, he feels.

The plan is for a 13,535 square-foot building, constructed in steps up the side of the hill. Each apartment will have a panoramic view of the town and off-street parking will be provided for both the residential and commercial units.

UIC more flexible for fathers

by Bill Scott, M.P.

On March 16, 1988, a bill entitled "An Act to Amend the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971" was introduced in the House of Commons.

This bill will ease two administrative aspects of the Unemployment Insurance Act. It will provide Unemployment Insurance benefits to fathers who, because of tragic circumstances, leave work to become the primary caregiver to a newborn baby. It will also make the Act more flexible with regard to the time limits on payment of maternity or adoption benefits where the child is hospitalized following birth.

The government is bringing a new flexibility to the Unemployment Insurance Act that will allow the provision of assistance to individuals at a difficult time in their lives.

The amendments will permit the payment of up to 15 weeks of Unemployment Insurance benefits to fathers.

Free rides end

There will be no more free rides for Minden's seniors.

Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Council refused to renew an agreement to cover the costs of a taxi service to the seniors apartments.

In the past the municipiality has picked up the monthly taxi bill for seniors using the service at Staunworth Court. However, when this agreement was brought up for renewal at the March 24 Council meeting, only Royce Miller voted in favour.

Bowlers

Standings in Commercial League

by John Fountain

Well here we are, with the Men's Commercial League standings. They are as follows: Harding Metals 86; Modern Electric 83; Ingoldsby 79; Payne Real Estate 66; West Guilford Recreation 57; and last but not least Carnarvon Lanes with 53. The Westside Warriors in first with 25; Just Us 23; Go Getters 21; The Bells 16; Dave's Fantasy 12; and The Straglers have 8. The high average goes to Bill Korz with a 242, he's followed by Bruce Cummings at 228 and Ron Robinson Jr. at 225. The high single goes to Ron Carter with a 322, followed by Wally Crofts with a 303. High triple goes to Dan Harding with a 771.

On the Vankoughnet Mixed League we find the high average goes to Bill Korz with a 236, and he is followed by Bruce Cummings at 235, and Scott Moore at 221. The high single still goes to Bruce

Cummings at 351, followed by Dave Macfarlane at 338, and Scott Moore at 333. The high triple also goes to Bruce Cummings with a 920, Bill Korz follows with a 861, and Dave Macfarlane with a 771.

Until next we meet, see you at the lanes.

Busy times at high school

voices of hhss

by Katy Beach, Dianne Garbutt
and Heather Donaldson

Well, here we are again. Soccer practices started last week, with badminton now in full "swing". Restlessness is in the air as real spring approaches. The most untypical characteristics of spring present in the school are messy lockers. You'd think that some of us might have done some spring cleaning.

The HHSS Stage Band parents had a meeting last Tuesday and along with some members of the stage band and Mr. Vaughan, they decided on some fund raising drives for the months of April and May.

Nada Vaughan is sponsoring a cookie eating contest on Friday, April 22 at noon in the gym. Sponsor someone! The Ladies Auxiliary of the Haliburton Legion are offering us a table at their flea market at the Legion from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday April 23. The band is also giving outdoor concerts in both Minden and Haliburton on Friday, April 29. They will be in Minden at 10:30 a.m. and in Haliburton at 1:30 p.m. No directions are needed, just follow the sound. Raffle tickets will be on sale very shortly and will be available during the concert as well as a bake sale, all to assist in the fund raising effort.

The band would especially like to thank Nicole McNab and Mr. Penfold who have diligently tried to earn or be sponsored for a non-talk-a-thon and for the Rotary Skate-a-thon. Thanks so much.

Everyone, please help the Stage band get to Calgary!

The drama club will be staging their second major production of the year.

The play, 'Inside Lester' was written by Fred Carmichael whose other works have included 'More than Meets the Eye', 'Shadow of Madness' and 'He's Having a Baby', and was first staged at the Dorset Playhouse in Vermont, USA on August 15, 1954.

The play revolves around the title character of Lester Pelham a television screenwriter and author who compensates for his apparent inadequacies through creating and writing about the fictional character of 'Tough Malloy', a suave, perspective detective who usually has a gun in one hand and a 'gorgeous doll' in another.

The plot revolves a whole lot of chaos, misinterpretation and mishap which abound throughout when Lester inadvertently swallows a $250,000 diamond and everyone seems to be after the world's most valuable stomach.

The drama club involves a diverse cross section of the entire school and have combined forces to stage this three act play.

Grade 13 student Andy Cooper stars in the title role as well as Lee Raback, Chantelle Bellefleur, Terri Johnson, Sarah Stouffer, Alison Sisson, Andrea Burton, Richard Beers and Tammy Powell.

Tickets shall be sold at the door on the nights of April 8th and 9th, the performances commencing at 8 p.m. sharp. The prices shall be $4 for adults and $2 for students.

Come out and support our group.

FOREST FIRES BURN MORE THAN TREES

During 1987, 50 forest fires occurred in the Haliburton and Minden areas. The months of April and May are the most dangerous time. Dead grass and leaves will allow a fire to spread very quickly resulting in the potential loss of life, dwellings and forested land.

Before you burn your grass, brush or debris, remember these important points:

1. You must obtain a fire permit;
2. Ensure that a responsible person tends the fire;
3. Keep the fire under control;
4. Upon completion, put your fire dead out. Even if it appears to be out, stir it, and drown it with water, again and again, until you're sure it is out.

 FIRE PERMITS ARE FREE OF CHARGE ***

During the fire season (April 1st to October 31st) the Forest Fires Prevention Act requires you to obtain a permit to be kept at the burning site and shown to an officer upon request. If you don't, you could be fined up to $1,000.00, imprisonment up to three months and liable for any costs and expenses involved in extinguishing a resulting fire.

Meet the Lioness Club

for your service

by Lorna Hicks

Along with a time crunch, I think my brain has a touch of Spring Fever, so my first submission will be a short introduction to the small busy group of Lioness ladies.

Our club was formed in 1986, with the Certification night on November 8. Our executive is Past President Jean Lacey, President Velma Stiver, Vice President Joyce Wright, Treasurer Ruth Rice, Lioness Tamer and Tail Twister Olive Hamilton, Secretary and Bulletin Editor Lorna Hicks. Other members Muriel Riemer, Bobbi Flood, Dorothy Boyd, Ena Marion, Mary Beaver and Kathy Stainton on leave.

We meet the second Tuesday evening of each month. Our club vest is cream with the Lioness logo patch on the pocket and we sport our own club pin, a cheery chipmunk.

Our sister club in this

A16 district is Claremont. We are supporting local and outside projects alone and with the Lions Club, the next joint venture on May 21 by Valu-mart is a giant yard sale. For information on the club or to donate, contact any member. More "chipmunk chatter" next month regarding activities and projects.

Video rental vertigo

movie boxes will demonstrate that Hollywood has never produced a clunker.

Individuals in search of the best video to rent must scan every title on display, while attempting to remember the title of their favourites, (restricted in number to the special package offered by the store in question), and their exact location on the endless racks. Of course, as a better title is discovered, those already on the list must be adjusted, or dropped, others shifted in priority, keeping in mind the shelf location of each. This bit of mental double-jointed gymnastics continues until the renter is exhausted or is finally convinced that the best possible among all those offered has been selected.

The syndrome is enhanced by the introduction of children. Add a factor of ten for each child who does not understand what is taking place, but is too heavy to carry and who, after 4.5 minutes, will start asking, repeated at 30 second intervals, when you are going to leave (this boring place). Add a factor of 25 for each child old enough to read the movie titles and who continually asks if you will rent one of those slice and dice teen horror flicks or why all the movies on the top row are about poverty stricken women who don't even have enough money to buy clothing.

The second facet of VCR-VRS is in many ways similar to the first, except rather than trying to find the best, the renter attempts to second guess what some one else at home will or will not like in a movie. You think you know your spouse and children until you come through the door with the movie selections you have made on their behalf. "Not THAT movie!", "We saw that one just last month ... don't you remember?", "That movie's for little kids", "Whatever convinced you to pick that one?" Each greeting is a crushing blow to your good intentions. With each rebuke you vow you'll never rent another movie for them, ever again.

Individuals suffering from these conditions can often be found staring blankly at the wall, rocking back and forth and muttering incoherently to themselves. Children, if present and belonging to this individual, will have curled into a small ball under some display case, locked in a deep sleep. The spouse of the individual can be found outside tending to an overheated radiator, matched only by a temper in the same condition.

Occasionally, even veteran video rentalists will slip back into VRS (A or B), but most have learned tricks to avoid it at all costs. The first strain of VRS can be fended off with a QR - Quick Rental. QR means taking no more than five minutes to make your selections and clear the store. It's your incisive surgical operation, carried out with speed, stealth and dexterity. You'll hate the movies when you finally get them on the home screen, but look at all the time you have saved.

Beat "the other person's taste syndrome" by (a) demanding a list of preferences in priority of selection and not allow any substitution or, (b) adopt the Attila the Hun movie rental selection process - select for yourself and ignore the rest.

CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIPS OF ANSON, HINDON and MINDEN

IN THE MATTER OF Sections 17(2) and 34(12) and 38 (1)(2) of the Planning Act, S.O. 1983,

and

IN THE MATTER OF an application by DOLLO BROS. FOOD MARKET LTD. to amend the Official Plan and Zoning By-law of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden to permit the Temporary use of a Commercial Building for School purposes on part of Lot 2, Concession A, in the Township of Anson.

NOTICE is hereby given that Council will hold a public meeting in the Municipal Council Chambers on Thursday, May 5, 1988 at 7:30 p.m. to consider an amendment to the Official Plan which would change the designation of the land from village commercial to institutional to permit the use of the property for school purposes.

NOTICE is also given that at the same time Council will consider amendments to Zoning By-laws 14-67 and 86-26 which propose to rezone the land described above and known as the former Dollo IGA store to permit the temporary use of the building on the above land for school purposes.

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that before passing the said Official Plan and Zoning By-law amendments, Council shall then and there hear any person who attends the said meeting to make representation in respect of the proposed amendments.

FURTHER INFORMATION, if required, may be obtained from the Municipal Offices during regular office hours.

Portable classes would cost $75,000

Stouffier. Noting that over the next three years, the school will have to add two new classrooms per year to accommodate the growing enrollment, Ladurantaye said that for the board to purchase the portables would cost the board $75,000 for three years. The trustee stressed her calculations represented "ballpark estimates" and did not take into consideration set-up charges for the portables or the renovations needed at the downtown location.

However, she suggested that while the figures may be less than exact, they do offer insight into the implications of each option. In all three cases, the local taxpayers will have to bear the entire costs as the province has not offered any assistance to solve this problem.

The trustee notes that the province will have to begin resolving the accommodation problem soon at the Minden school and predicted the use of the downtown location would be a three year temporary move. "This may not be the best solution to our problem," Ladurantaye commented, "but it is the most practical."

In considering which classes would be moved to the downtown location, the trustee said the committee in its initial discussions felt the three grade one classes and four kindergarten classes could be accommodated in the building. This would require five classrooms in total since the kindergarten students attend only on alternate days. She noted the youngest students in the school make the least demands on special education facilities at the present school. She said they are not involved in special education classes, shops, home economics and physical education programs. The younger students are not involved in the school's instant French instruction or the classes offered in the music room.

Another aspect which makes the move to the downtown location attractive, according to Ladurantaye, is that washroom facilities can be included in the renovations of the building. She noted the washroom facilities at the school will have to be increased when more portables are added, increasing the expense.

As to the lack of access to the school's library and gymnasium, the trustee said a small library can be established at the new location to accommodate the needs of the students and special programs could be developed to compensate for the lack of a gymnasium. Ladurantaye noted that the number of classes at the school now already fills the gymnasium schedule and adding more classes, via portables, would mean an even tighter schedule, with some classes possibly having to be without access to the gymnasium for long periods of time.

Asked whether the move to the new location might become a temporary solution that could become permanent, she suggested the potential for the portable classrooms becoming permanent features on the school grounds concerns her more than that condition happening with this latest suggestion.

She noted there would be problems in the busing of students and some students might be concerned about not attending the same school building as their older siblings. However, in response to those who object to separating a certain section from the main body of the school, she notes the current dispute in Walthamton Village where parents are objecting to the integration of the community's two schools, claiming the smaller school will provide a more intimate personal learning atmosphere for the younger pupils.

The trustee said that in talking with students who have classes in portables, they already express a sense of alienation from the main student body by being in these structures.

Ladurantaye's trustee Cheryl Murdoch, who is also a member of the accommodation committee, emphasized that a move to the downtown location would be a temporary one. She said the option was better than adding more portables and said the Ministry of Education will generally not consider requests for permanent additions to schools where more than half the student body is housed in portable classrooms. She said she was fearful of adding more and more portables on the Minden school ground, until they become a permanent part of the landscape.

Murdoch said the proposed building is currently being renovated by the owner and the results would be an attractive, comfortable structure suitable for school use. The installation of fencing would protect the students from the dangers of the street in front of the building and the west area behind the store. Trustee Ladurantaye said when she visited the downtown location last week, she found the area behind the store, which could serve as playground space, was drier than the playground at the school.

Both trustees were dismayed by the rumours they have heard circulating during this past week. "That is one reason we have called this public meeting," Murdoch said, "to help clear up some of the misconceptions people have about this idea." She noted that no final decision has been taken and none can be until the rezoning of the property is approved. Ladurantaye said the trustees were not trying to "skip one by the parents, by presenting them with a final decision."

Staanwoth Court news

Hi! So happy March is on its way out, giving way to April showers and May flowers. Hope you are too.

A very successful meeting was held this month in our Lounge room with Holly C. presiding and Corinne A. acting treasurer. The President brought to the attention of all members that a new set of bylaws should be formed now that the New Horizon group has been dissolved. This is necessary so that the tenants will know what is required under certain circumstances. A suggestion box was made available to us by Holly. Also the quilt just finished by our ladies will be available by ticket among tenants only.

Jean and Harry Cowan paid a visit to Sunnybrook Hospital where Harry has been put under Doctor's care.

Mary of our folk have been on the sick list and we trust they will soon be well again. They are Jean and Harry Cowan, Fern and Bill Donnelly, Lillian and George Davidson, Frank Ferris and Ivy Anglin. George Davidson was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital in Peterborough. Our best get-well wishes, George.

Very glad to see Corinne and Hector and Mrs. C.

Bonneville back after a trip to California. There they visited relatives, enjoyed the weather, scenery and rest.

Jean M., Eleanor Pye, Melissa H., and Mary H. attended the St. Patrick's Euchre party at Hyland Crest. They really enjoyed the evening and met many of their friends, including a former resident Mary Casey (Melissa's mother). The tea and goodies were greatly enjoyed and the prizes were appreciated.

In preparing for a coming event, little Jean was told that Daddy was ordering a small brother.

Well, unpleas arrived, and when Jean heard of it, she said to her mother - "Oh, Mummy, you should have ordered the baby yourself - you know how Daddy smooches."

Our monthly supper proved to be very tasty, as usual, in common and dispute. It included salad, ham and pineapple, scalloped potatoes and peas. Jean, Marsh, our social convener, very fittingly gave a vote of thanks to Melissa and Holly, our food conveners, for a lovely meal.

Let us not forget our neighbour, Art Marsh, who so kindly shovelled the snow from our patio, and brushed off the car through this past winter season. We thank you, Art.

In scanning through The Times of March 28 I could not help but note the smile on Kyla Giesman's face as she had her photograph taken with our Olympic figure skater, Brian Orser. This prompted me to compliment the Minden Figure Skating Club for the beautiful presentation of Disney Skates on Sunday, March 27. Jean M., Emily P. and Mary H. attended the program and congratulate the Club Executive, and coaches for the many hours of hard work and preparation. Each and every child performed so well, even the wee Dalmatians, and the wee fox who tried so hard to follow the music "Waltz me". Your guest skaters

Loni Rassing and Alan Kerslake were a thrill to behold, as they skated so gracefully and creatively while presenting their special figures. We agree they are worthy of the category in which they have placed themselves and many of their figures seemed to me of Olympic quality. Minden should be very proud of this interpretation of Disney Skates as presented by your professional and amateur coaches and skaters. Congratulations to all.

Easter is with us once more reminding us of our faith in our rebirth and the Resurrection we celebrate this weekend.

A very Happy Easter to all.

The York Royal Treatment

Heating and Air Conditioning fit for a king.

If York can bring comfort to Broughton Hall in York, England, imagine what we can do for your home. Because your home is your castle, we recommend a York Stellar 2000 heat pump, because heat pumps beat the others cold. They do it with remarkable air conditioning that cuts the summer heat. Then they cut your winter heating bills with super efficiency. A heat pump is the most energy efficient heating system available, beating all the others because it actually delivers more energy than it uses.

The York Royal Bonus.

Buy now and receive your choice of exquisite Waterford Crystal or a York Cash Rebate from $150. to $775. But act quickly as this is a limited time offer. Premium or amount is determined by equipment purchased.

You could win a trip to England.

Ask us for a Free Home Survey of your residential comfort needs and you could win a trip for two to England via British Airways and stay at the luxurious 5-star Royal Garden Hotel.

Happy Easter readers! It looks to be a nice day. Rev. J. Burgess had the chapel service Sunday evening and Father George Elliott of the Anglican Church had the service Tuesday morning. The Ladies from the Pentecostal Church came with our Thursday afternoon tea. It was lovely and enjoyed by everyone.

The movies Monday night were "Hopalong Cassidy".

Mr. James Simpson had Mrs. Pickens from Gooderham to call on him. Vi Cooke also called with Easter goodies and always seems to have time for a nice chat. Mrs. Carefoot had her daughter from Kinmount in for a visit and Jean Taylor had her niece in to see her.

Dora Dawson has returned home after a week spent visiting her friend Miss Isabel Gibbs at Maple Lake. Mrs. Ferrill had members of her family in on Sunday afternoon.

A big birthday celebration was held in the auditorium on Saturday afternoon to honour Angus Coulter on his 90th birthday. Those of the family from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Coulter of Campbell River, B.C., Mr. and Mrs. Glen Coulter of Florida, Frances Crawford and Junior from Calgary, Craig Coulter of Kirland Lake, Gerald Coulter of Toronto. I haven't enough paper to list everyone there. Sure was a crowd and everyone had a good time.

There was a fun time here on Tuesday night. The North Country Express band came and put on a real programme of music and singing. The audience put on a show to round and square dancing. Norman Graham was the violin player and Earl Kent was the caller for the square dances. Light refreshments were served. All in all a very pleasant time. We have had the pleasure in meeting our new Administrator Mr. Dwight Morley. We are hoping he will like Minden and Hyland Crest. More next week.

"Keep your face always toward the sunshine and the shadows will fall behind you."

And while all this was going on, Acres was conducting the Post Audit. Residents took advantage of the public meetings to express their dissatisfaction. The one saving grace was that some positive results might result from this study.

However, when the recommendations were finally released to the committee, even chairman Harry Davis expressed his dissatisfaction.

At the last meeting of Haliburton County Council, Davis, who is the Reeve of Stanhope Township, relayed his disappointment in the Post Audit recommendations to the rest of the county. He said he expected more from this study than to upgrade the computers.

The Post Audit began with a five-hour public meeting at the Haliburton Legion last August. Here Acres addressed close to 300 people and received 200 responses to their questionnaires. In conclusion, Acres reported that the general attitude is that the Trent Severn Waterway assigns too high a priority to meeting the needs of the canal system, and too low a priority to maintaining adequate water levels on the Haliburton area lakes.

Acres promised to keep the public informed of the study progress through "periodic newsletters, which will be sent to towns, townships, public associations and the press."

According to Graham, Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships never received any newsletters. Copies of either phase of the report were never received by the municipality or this newspaper.

The only purpose for the public meeting was to allow people to vent their frustrations and to give them the idea that Trent Severn was trying to solve their problems, says Graham. The restrictive terms of reference on which this study was based prohibited Acres from dealing with the problems at hand.

"Why did they hold the public meetings?" asks Graham. "The public input was completely neglected. The meetings were just a front to dissipate discontent." He says Acres listened to the barrage of complaints but had his hands tied by the terms of reference.

There are a number of priorities that govern the flow of water through the system, and flood or drought control in Haliburton are at the bottom of the list.

Topping the list of priorities are the flow constraints at Lakefield and the decision to maintain a six-foot navigation depth in the canal between Victoria Day and Thanksgiving.

Regarding the flow constraints needed to wash away Peterborough's sewage, Graham feels this should be corrected by upgrading that city's sewage treatment facilities. He says the costs of such a project must be weighed against the potential losses from flood or drought in Haliburton.

Barring this, the Trent Severn authorities will have to start using a little common sense in setting the lake levels in the spring, says Graham. If there is no snow on the ground in February, they can keep the lake levels high. But if there is heavy snow cover, they have to lower the levels to prevent flooding. Graham says their present strategy is to fill the reservoir lakes to 100 per cent capacity and beyond regardless of the potential for flooding from a spring thaw.

Despite all the control dams, the state-of-the-art computer technology, and the years of experience in managing this waterway, Graham believes Haliburton would be better served by a free flowing water course. All the structures are in place to control lake levels, but they are being used for other purposes. The way the system is being managed, it is creating more problems here than it is solving.

Have you ever strolled
Along a winding road
That seems to lead nowhere
The dregs of Winter
Still clinging to earth
In the soft grey of dawn?
Your mind engrossed in thought,
Sometimes in worry and sorrow
At what the day will bring
Will there be some small thing
To make you smile?
You stop awhile,
In reverie.
There at your feet
So very sweet and infinitesimal
Small but strong and oh so pure
And pale in colour
Not like any other
You have seen.
A tiny bud
Its petals soft and fragile
Its little leaves encasing it
Begin to glow amidst the snow
That's melting now
In dawn's first glowing light.
The miracle of God.
Rebirth deep in the earth
That happens every Spring.
Just like a babe
Swaddling in its mother's womb
Stirs and pushes to be born
To face its destiny
As it was meant to be.
Now everywhere we see
What our great God hath wrought.
Our fears all melt away
The brightness of that soft new day
And birth!

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Q: When are you neither left-handed or right-handed?

A: When you are under-handed.

* * *

Q: What happened when the nail had a fight with the tire?

A: The nail knocked it flat.

* * *

Q: What is the difference between a pitch fork and a tooth pick?

A: Well, if you don't know, better not pick your teeth.

Board serves area since 1977 prepared by the Haliburton District

Real Estate Board

The Haliburton District Real Estate Board was formed in 1977 after being affiliated with the Lindsay District Real Estate Board. It has since become an independent board under the jurisdiction of the Ontario Real Estate Association and the Canadian Real Estate Association (OREA and CREA). We currently have 82 members and 19 offices working for you in Haliburton County.

The association is mostly a service organization for its membership of brokers and real estate sales representatives, but the Haliburton District Real Estate Board also has a role to play with the general public.

To encourage Vendors to list Multiple Listing Service (MLS), the Haliburton District Real Estate Board has currently adopted this weekly article entitled "Home Words" to bring about more public awareness as to how the MLS system and the board operates. It will also give enlightening features such as "selling your home", "buying a home", "real estate as an investment" etc. Also, we will periodically publish a feature on every member of the Haliburton District Real Estate Board.

The MLS system is a service of the board whereby all of the members of the association have access to the listing information of any property submitted by a broker to the system. MLS has proven to be the best way to list properties to ensure the Vendor of the greatest exposure of the property to the open market.

The structure of the board is currently made up of a number of committees to service your needs. "Advertising Standards Committee, Arbitration Committee, Attendance Committee, By-Laws Committee, Discipline Committee, Education Committee, Membership Committee, Nomination Committee, Professional Standards Committee, Political Affairs, Zoning and Legislation Committee, Standard Forms Committee.

This column will welcome any questions from the public regarding real estate in general. All questions and replies will be printed in the following "Home Words" article.

The Haliburton District Real Estate Board is here to serve you. If you have any questions regarding a real estate transaction, or if you would like more information before listing or purchasing a property, board staff would be pleased to answer any of your inquiries. They can be reached at the board office located at Box 760, Minden, Ontario K0M 2K0. Phone 286-2635.

NOTICE TO PARENTS OF STUDENTS IN ARCHIE STOUFFER ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Due to increased enrolment in our school, the Board of Education is studying the possibility of putting several classes in a building away from the present site of Archie Stouffer Elementary School. The building under consideration is the original I.G.A. store.

If this site is selected, the Kindergarten and grade one classes would likely be considered for relocation.

A public meeting will be held in the Archie Stouffer Elementary School gymnasium on WEDNESDAY, APRIL 13 at 7:30 p.m. to further explain this proposal and to answer questions.

For those interested, there will be a tour of the school starting at 6:45 p.m. at the Main Office.

CARD OF THANKS

To all family and friends who helped make my 90th birthday party such a great day. Many thanks.

Angus Coulter

We wish to thank all our relatives, friends and neighbours for all their kindness, prayers, cards, visits and phone calls and for sharing our sorrow on the passing of a dear husband, father and grandfather. Thanks too for donations of funds, food, etc. To the Rev. Fred McPhail for his message of comfort and inspiration also to our pastor Marjorie Rennie for singing so beautifully as my husband requested many years ago. Thanks also to our granddaughters whom he selected as pallbearers and our grandsons as honorary pallbearers. God Bless You All. Lila Warburton & family
